

Student Rhythm Pattern Pages

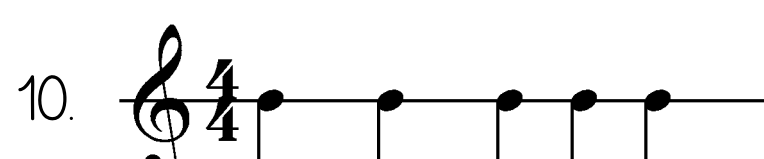

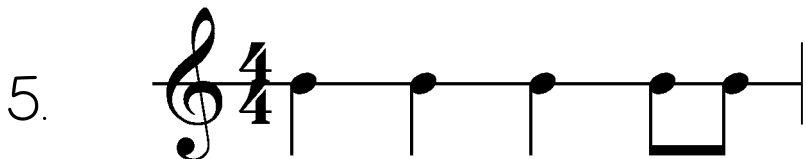

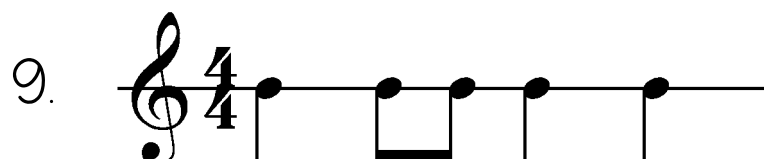

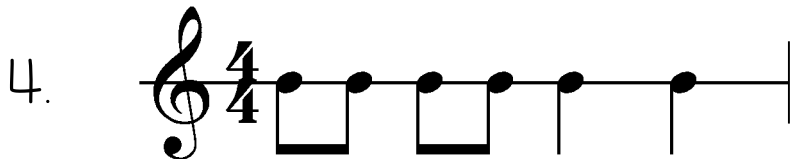

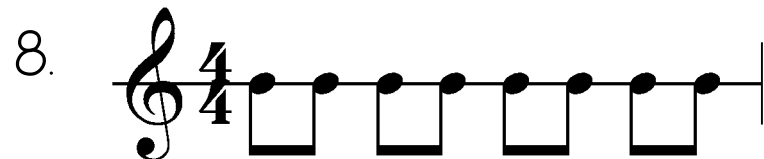

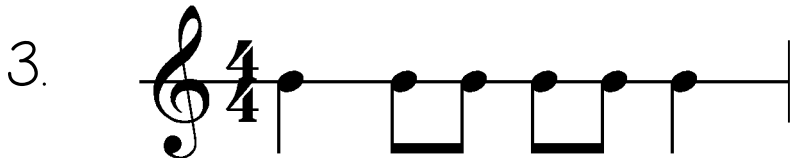

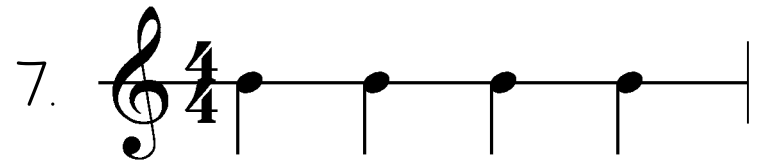

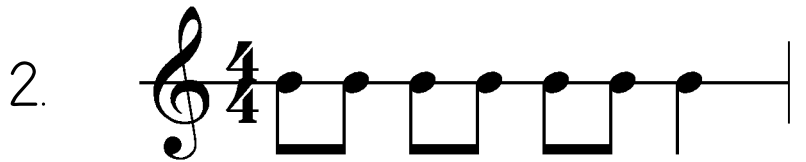

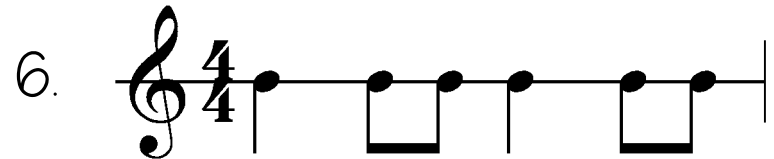

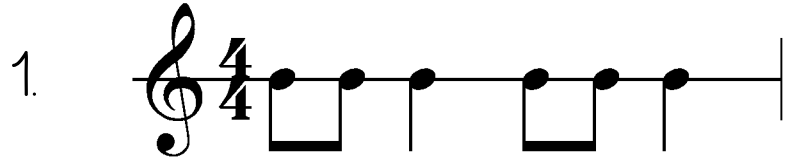

Duple Meter Levels 1-5

Formative Assessment Included to Track Student Growth

Copyright Jennifer Bailey 2013. All rights reserved.

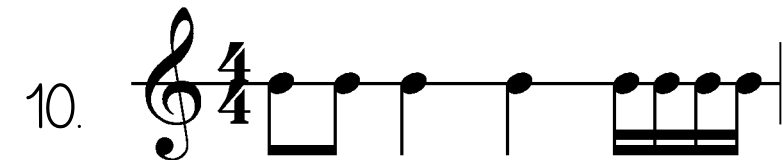

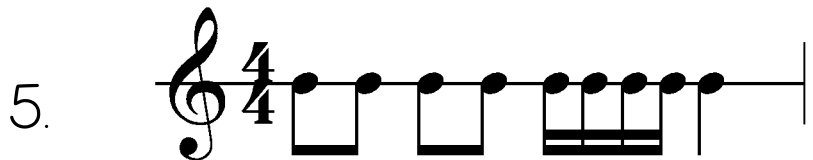

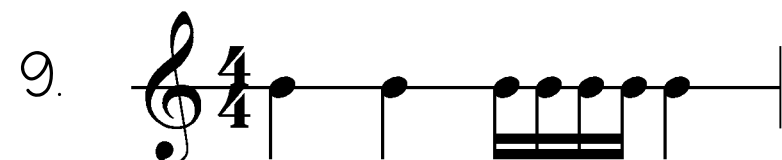

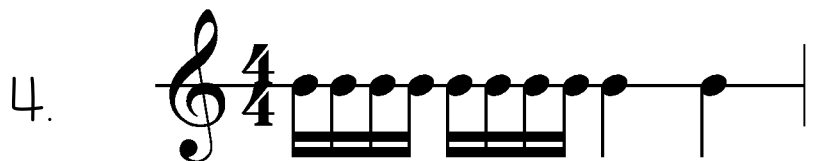

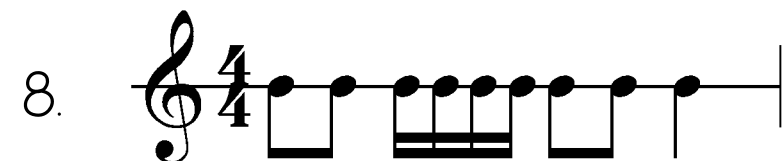

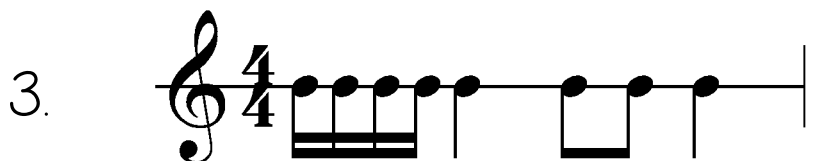

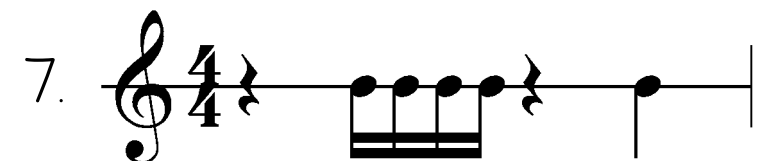

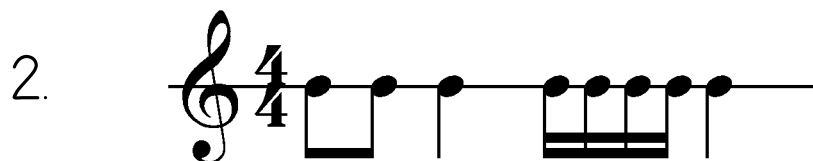

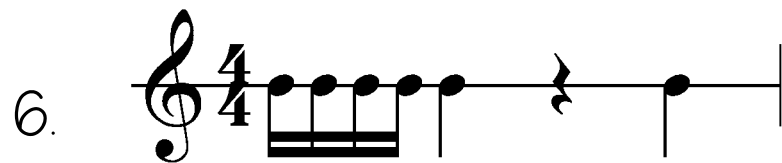

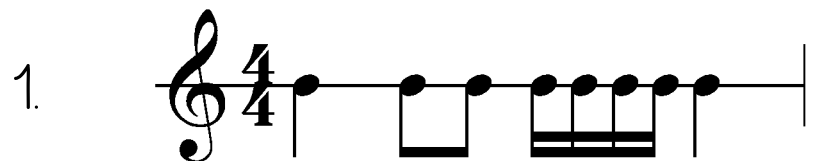

Duple Meter Level One

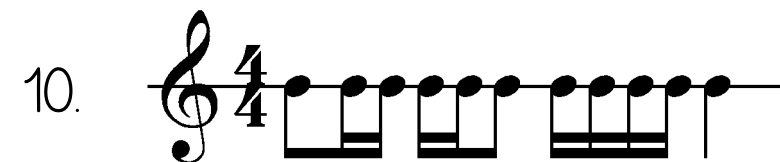

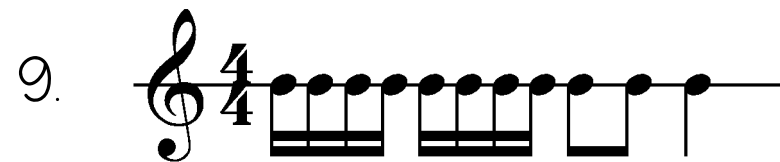

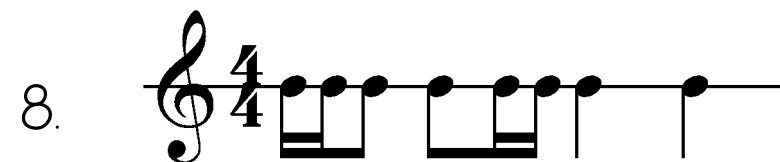

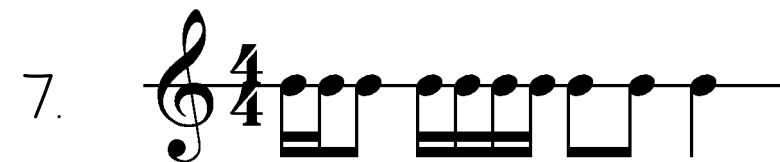

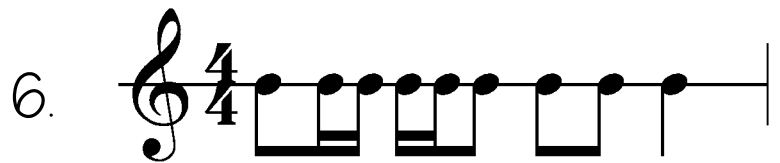

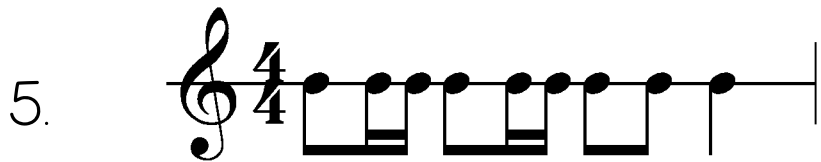

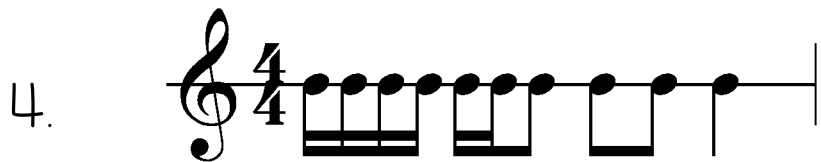

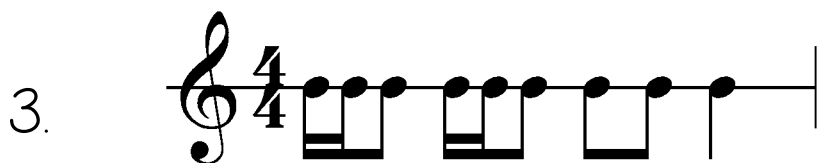

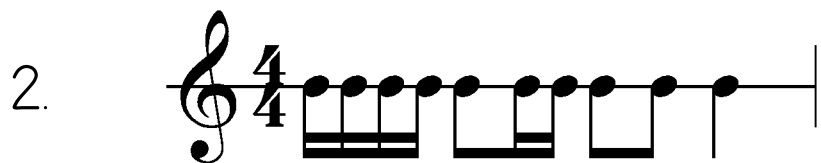

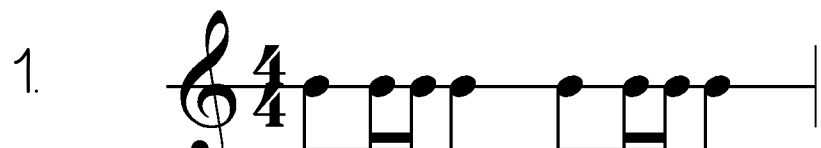

Duple Meter Level Two

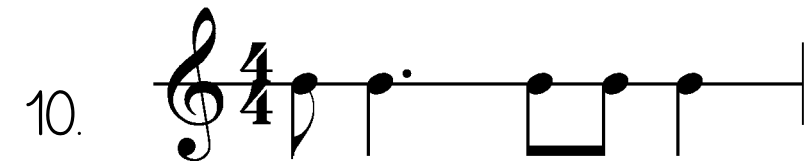

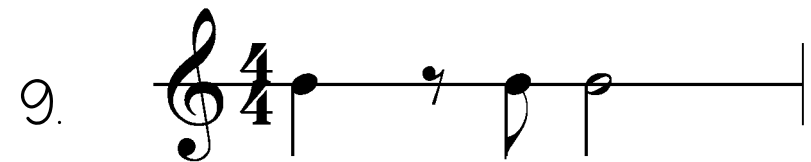

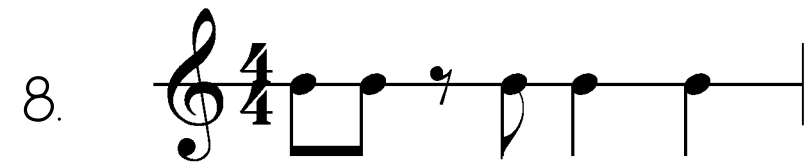

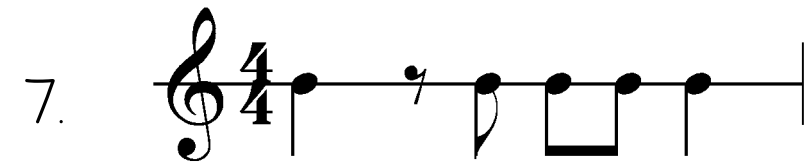

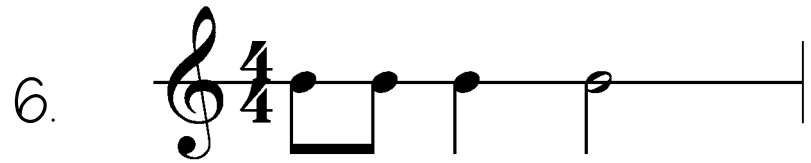

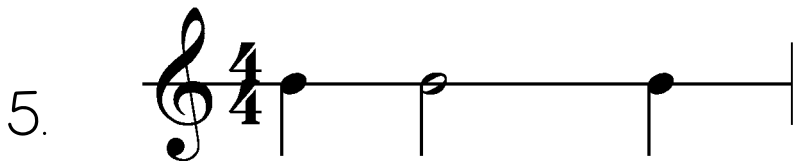

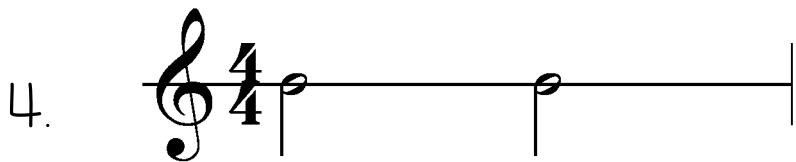

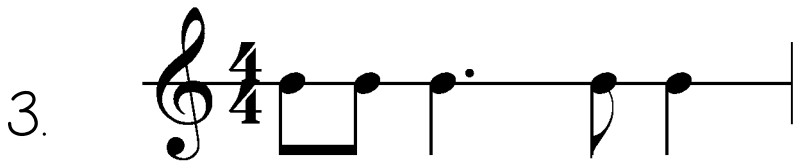

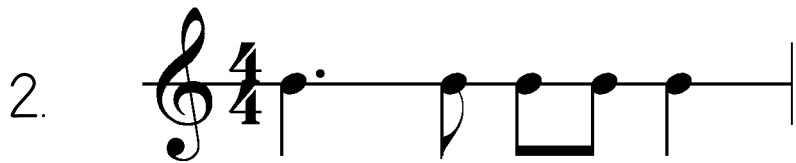

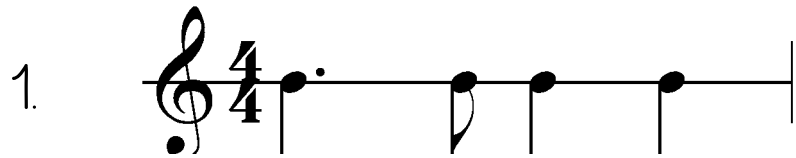

Duple Meter Level Three

Duple Meter Level Four

Duple Meter Level Five

Formative Assessment: 4 Point Scale

- 4 – Student can read of all the rhythm patterns accurately in meter and tempo.
- 3 – Student can read most of the rhythm patterns in meter and tempo.
- 2 – Student can read some of the rhythm patterns in meter and tempo.
- 1 – With teacher help, student is not able to read rhythm patterns yet.

Tips for classroom practice and assessment:

1. I always prep every rhythm with “look and read, ready and say” in the tempo and meter of the pattern. That way students have the opportunity to audiate before chanting.
2. I like to mix up the order a bit. Rarely do we go 1-2-3. It helps to ensure students are focused and attending to the lesson.
3. Sometimes I chant a pattern for them and ask them to tell me which pattern I read. It’s another way to check for understanding.
4. When students are assessed, they read only 3-4 patterns for me. There isn’t enough time for me to hear all 10! If I have a student who is shy or worried about reading, I let them pick the first rhythm to read to me. I want to build their capacity and confidence to participate!

There are INTERACTIVE WHITE BOARD patterns that accompany this pack. You can find them on my TpT page under I Can Read Duple Meter.